

Name: _____

Date: _____ Block: _____

First Opium War - Trade Deficits and the Macartney Embassy
Extra History #1

Silk, porcelain, and _____ were _____ products coveted by buyers in Europe.	The Chinese _____ placed strict control on foreign _____.
The _____ could tax trade as they saw fit.	European traders were _____ because they wanted to make profit off Chinese _____.
Piracy and _____ began to rise.	When an employee of the East India British Company decided to violate the rules of trade, the Chinese wondered if Europeans would stay in one _____ or even obey Chinese _____.
_____ was a major driver of the British _____.	The British decided to send the First Earl of _____ to China to speak about opening trade.
In the presence of the emperor of China, it is expected that everyone _____. Macartney refused.	Chinese saw the gifts as a _____ mission.
British needed to find something the Chinese wanted and then they did: _____.	